The next screen confirms the workshop was created as an Online Session in eseWorks. Make note of the Session ID for ease of locating it in the future.
Note: The Online Event you created will be located using the Online Sessions button in the Sessions module.
Finding a Session: Using the Search Bar

Each module in escWorks uses a search bar similar to the one below. The search criteria in the dropdown menu varies from module to module, but the functionally is the same.

To use the Search Bar, select the appropriate search criteria from the dropdown menu in the search bar and enter the search details in the text entry field.

For example, if searching for a session by the ID number:

- Select Session ID from the dropdown menu
- Select Contains from the second dropdown menu
- Enter the Session ID in the text field
- Click Find

The search will display a maximum of 25 items per page.

If your search returns more than one page of results, you may use the Search within results option to refine your search. To use this option, click on the Search within results check box and then enter your new search criteria.

If you click find without entering any data, the search results will contain all of the data in the system for that module. For example, in the My Sessions module, clicking Find without entering any search criteria will display a list of all of the sessions that you have created.
Editing an Existing Session

Once a session has been created, it may be located by performing a search using the Current Sessions buttons in the Sessions module. You may search for the session using any of the search criteria options in the dropdown menu.

Once the Session is located:

- Click on the session to select it
- Click the Edit button in the control bar. This will open the Edit screens.
- Once the correction has been made, proceed through the remaining screens by clicking the Next button

Click the Finish button to save the changes
Viewing the Grids

The search results will be displayed in a grid under the search bar. The column titles in each module will vary depending on the data being displayed, but the grids will all function the same way.

If more than one page of results is returned in the search, use the Jump to Page dropdown menu to move within the pages of the results.

The column titles in the blue bar at the top of each page of results may be used to sort the data. Click on a column title once to sort the data in ascending order. Click on the column title twice to display the data in descending order. Once the sort has been activated, you may click on the X in the column title bar to cancel the sort.

You may select more than one column title to sort the data. For example, you may click on the Contact Person column to sort the sessions by Contact Person and then click on Session ID to display the sessions by ascending ID number within the Contact Person grouping.
Waiting List (Instructor’s process)

Once a workshop has reached the registration limit, participants may place themselves on the Waiting List for that workshop in the registration section of the system. If space becomes available in the workshop, then they will be notified of the availability via email. If they do not register for the workshop within 3 hours of the email being sent, the next person on that workshop’s Waiting List will be notified that space is available and this attendee will be moved to the end of the waiting list order.

The system checks for participants on the Waiting List and openings in the sessions several times a day and sends the notification emails throughout the day.

The Waiting List Module is used to view those participants who are currently on the waiting list.

To view the current Waiting List:

- Locate the session in the Current Sessions grid and click on it
